Closes Saturday 3 March 2012

As we pass through space and time, traces of our existence are left behind. What happens to emotions and passions, previously lived? Are they forgotten? Do we become a trace of the past? Or are these forgotten feelings rediscovered with each new generation? Just as I feel, somebody before me has felt. I Exist, I Insist is an exhibition of reoccurring emotions and passions as inscribed in space and time upon the walls of the abandoned Queen Mary building of Sydney.
